Champion Dramatic Society Scores Big Success

The Champion Dramatic organization which presented the comedy, "The First Mrs. Fraser," in the Community Hall on Friday evening, March 22nd received the most splendid acclaim their efforts could have achieved—the enthusiastic approval of one of the finest audiences that ever gathered in Champion.

The cast was a well balanced machine, showing careful training with no weak spots. Miss Joan Anderson, as the first Mrs. Fraser, and Mr. B. F. Coal, as Mr. Fraser, evidenced dramatic ability of a particularly high character. Mrs. C. Luehla, as the second Mrs. Fraser, handled a very difficult part with distinct ability and assisted greatly in the satisfactory manner in which the play was received. Mr. Harold Stephenson as Philip, the suitor to the first Mrs. Fraser interpreted his role with general satisfaction. Mr. E. Anderson, as Ninian, and Mr. D. Campbell, as Maudie, sons of the first Mrs. Fraser, interpreted difficult parts very satisfactorily, and Miss Buddy James as the wife of Maudie and Mrs. E. Lettiff as the maid captured the audience handling their parts successfully and aiding distinctly in the success achieved.

The actors received an enthusiastic reception, the audience being highly impressed with their keenness and dramatic ability.

The Vulcan Symphony orchestra, which played between acts, were highly applauded their music adding greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

The members of the cast are to be congratulated on their outstanding performance.

The C. G. I. T. girls entertained at a party on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Dora Miller who is leaving Champion this week. Games were played, after which Dora was presented with a perfume, as a remembrance of the many happy times the girls have spent together.

Repairs are under way to the building occupied by the Chronicle and H. C. Jopling, following a fire on Friday morning. The fire started from a gas stove in the upper part of the building, but due to help arriving immediately, the fire made little headway. Smoke and acid from fire extinguishers, however caused considerable damage.

A very interesting meeting of the Social Credit Club was held in the hall on Tuesday, March 26th. Business in regard to funds for expenses of delegates to the central convention in Calgary on April 4th and 5th was taken care of. Many other resolutions were passed, among which was a resolution of appreciation to Wm. Aberhart, B. A. of Calgary.

The secretary of state has issued a proclamation, to be posted in every post office in Canada, setting apart as a public holiday May 6, the jubilee anniversary of King George V's accession to the throne.

Mrs. J. O. Anderson entertained at dinner on Sunday.

St. Patrick's Party Success

On the evening of March 16, a St. Patrick party was given at the Alston Community hall by the Misses Marjorie Lawrence, Mary Lee and Dorothy Jorgens. Games were played and were followed by several novelty dances.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clements, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Eva Oberheiser, Marjorie Hopkins, Letha Hopkins, Myrtle Hopkins, Pearl Zang, Kate Plank, Catherine Gottenberg, Jean Anderson, Beth Anderson, Margaret Gardiner, Jayne Isaacson, Leonard Voisey, Neal Zehnd, Clayton Slette, Claude Miller, Fred Hogrman, Sam Davidson, Emrie Miller, Joe Worth, Harry Lawrence, Leonard Isaacson, Jim Lawrence, Alex Lettiff, Don Campbell, Harold Stephenson, Don Stephenson, Martin Gottenberg, Bill Adams, Bud Sanford.

Girl Guide News

On Easter Monday, April 22nd, the Chief Scout and the Chief Guide, Lord and Lady Helen Powell, will be in Calgary to meet the Scouts and Guides of Southern Alberta. The Scouts and Guides will give demonstrations of their work, including an Indian War Dance by the Gloches Indian troop, and a Pageant of Scouts of the World by Calgary troops. Scouts and Guides, Rovers and Rangers, Wolf Cubs and Brownies will all take part in a grand March past the Chiefs.

The Champion Guides hope to go to the Rally, or Jamboree as the Scouts call it, if they can arrange for transportation. Just now they are busy making their uniforms.

To raise money for the uniforms and for the cost of transportation, the Guides are holding an Easter tea in Mr. Alexander's office on Saturday, April 20th, and hope that all their friends will come. There will be Fortune telling, and a Bake Sale. The menu will include salad, rolls, cake, and Guide specialties. The charge will be 25 cents.

Anyone wishing to attend the Rally is asked to communicate with any of the Guides or Guiders at once, that seats may be reserved. Unfortunately, no information about the price of tickets has been received yet.

Is Democracy A Failure?

Articles appearing in this column from week to week, have a considerable period of time, had two main objectives—to convey information and to provoke constructive thought on the part of the reader. At the same time an earnest endeavor has been made to refrain from discussion of questions which are the subject of partisan political controversy or of sharp differences of opinion arising out of racial or religious views. In the present disturbed state of the world, when practically every financial, economic and social question has become part and parcel of some political creed it is no easy matter for any writer, unless he confines himself to meaningless platitudes, not to appear to take sides and express views which others may interpret as somewhat partisan in character one way or another. Notwithstanding this difficulty an honest effort has been made in this column to steer clear of partisanship while at the same time in discussing matters of public interest to give some point and value to these articles.

The writer is firmly convinced that what is needed at all times, and never more so than at present, is adherence to well grounded sound principles, the dissemination of accurate information, and clear constructive thinking on the part of each individual citizen. A demagogue may be clever and interesting and able to sway a mob, but he is not a safe and constructive leader and a mob is a dangerous thing.

This week we propose to submit a few questions, but do not intend to answer them. Rather our object is to have the reader answer them for himself; in other words, do their own thinking.

General Hugh S. Johnson, until recently director of Roosevelt's R.A.C. programme, stated in a recent interview that "democracy is the best government in the world for peace and prosperity, but it is the worst government in the world for a great war or great crisis." Is this true, and if it is true what does such a statement or situation imply? Does it mean that democracy as a system of government is right, but that the people who constitute the democracy, and therefore the government, are unreliable and cannot be trusted? Is it the system or the people who are weak? Does it mean that when things are proceeding normally, democracy is a good system, but when things are at a crisis, democracy is a failure? Does it mean that when a crisis develops these same people become panic stricken, emotional and reckless, ready to act precipitately without taking thought of the ultimate consequences of their action?

Does General Johnson's statement, if true, imply that the nations of the world should abandon democracy as a system of government and revert to more autocratic and dictatorial forms of government, thereby relinquishing the political freedom which is now theirs, and submitting to such more autocratic governments full control at all times, in peace and prosperity as well as in times of war, emergency and crisis?

If democracy is not to be abandoned, and we are not to accept Communism, Fascism, Socialism, or other forms of government which involve abandonment of existing democratic political rights and freedom, how is democracy to be made safe for the world at all times, because it cannot be thrown into the discard in times of trouble and emergency and reconstructed and made to function efficiently the moment the crisis passes?

It will be admitted that with the coming of what has been termed the Industrial Revolution of the Nineteenth Century, human society was completely reorganized. The worker has risen from his old feudal state and there has been an extraordinary rise in the level of his living standards. With this rise of the economic status of the worker there has been an even more pronounced rise in his social and political status. Public schools, newspapers, labor unions, and other agencies of wage-earners as consumers have established the political power of the workers and primary producers. The universal ballot, the franchise, the vote, and the right to stand for office, have given control of government to the masses of the people.

Commenting on this development a professor of economics in one of the great American universities has written "Here lies the danger of injury to progress. This power has been obtained, naturally enough, in advance of economic knowledge and the level of the living standards. The politicians may guide and direct it into perilous paths. Nobody wants to throw back this tide of democracy. Nobody can. But it needs to learn self-control and to gain understanding. It has neither at present." Is this professor of economics right? Is democracy endangered by lack of self-control and understanding on the part of those people who have the most to lose and suffer if democracy is lost to the world, and who have the most to gain and enjoy if democracy is maintained and made to function in times of emergency and crisis as well as in times of peace and prosperity? In a word, are our present political rights and power under democracy to be unthinkingly given up in a time of crisis and emergency to overthrow and destroy democracy itself? Are people going to prove the truth of General Johnson's observation that democracy is not a safe system in times of crisis?

How can people be taught self-control in times of emergency? How can the tendency to panic be overcome? How can understanding be given to the masses so that they will refrain from panic and exercise self-control and thus overcome the crisis and prevent the taking of disastrous action? How, when there are always demagogues, agitators, self-seekers whether in politics or other spheres, ever ready to inflame and mislead the masses, are these masses of voters who to-day control all governments, going to be educated to think for themselves, refrain from being influenced by mob psychology, and exercise self-control through the obtaining of sound knowledge and an understanding of basic irrefutable principles?

Is the task too great for democracy, that is, for mankind itself? Or must mankind revert to the state from which it has struggled upward through the centuries and make confession that, being incapable of self-government in the mass, there is only one thing to do and that is to respond to its trust and place the power which the masses now possess in the hands of a few to exercise full power, direction and control over them? Finally, if this is done, will the masses remain content to have it so, or will the old struggle of mass be commenced all over again?

This is the acute problem facing the world to-day. Democracy itself must and will answer it. Will that answer be for its own preservation, or will it be for self-destruction?

Doctors advise this natural corrective for Constipation!

Not a drug . . . safe, effective, economical!

Stop your stomach, bad breath, headaches and all constipation ills. You can do it easily, cheaply with Quaker Bran.

Quaker Bran, the coating of the wheat, is milled so soft it cannot irritate. Yet it is effective. It works with nature to produce normal, healthy bowel movement . . . persading the intestinal muscles to normal activity.

Remember, Quaker Bran is different from all prepared bran cereals. It is pure bran, uncooked—ungrained—unflavored. For these reasons it is definitely richer in mineral and vitamin content.

Serve it with your regular cereal each morning or in muffins, cookies, etc. There is a recipe book in every package.

Bells Rang Electrically

Italian Villagers Looked For Miracle

Until Mystery Solved When they heard the bells of the little church of Santa Sta Pietro ringing for a number of days and nights, apparently by themselves, the villagers of Lucca, Italy, thought it portended a miracle. The chime of the bells were tied and the parish priest locked the bell tower and put the key in his pocket. But still the bells went on ringing. Finally the local electrician discovered the bells were being rung electrically as the overhead wires for the tramway line came into contact with the belfry. Now the villagers are able to sleep again.

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

Could Not Wash Himself Nor Brush His Hair

So bad was his rheumatism that his friend declared he would never work again. Although he is 70 years old, he proved they were wrong. Lord what he says: "I am seventy years of age. Last Christmas I was completely doubled up with rheumatism. I could not brush my hair nor wash myself. People said I should never work any more. I am working harder than a young man to-day. Thanks, many thanks, to Kruschen Salts. I take them in my food. They have recommended them to me. I could not get in or out of bed myself, nor sit up. But now I work now—12 hours a day sometimes. Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel. In addition, they are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food poisoning and prevent the accumulation of uric acid. They prevent the other body poisons which undermine the health."

Chauffeur, Cook, And Maid Inherit

A chauffeur and his wife, a cook and an "stairs girl" are masters and mistresses of an estate at Newton, Mass., in which a few days ago they were servants.

The will of their late employer, Mrs. Jessie A. Goddard, 80, left them the full mansion to do with as they saw fit.

Heirs to the estate were William Wilson, for 25 years; Mrs. Goddard's chauffeur, his wife, Annie; Miss Margaret McAuley, cook; and Miss Jane Douglas, maid.

The estate, valued at $200,000, were distributed to friends, former servants, charities, churches and distant relatives.

SWEARS TO TRUTH OF STATEMENT

Mr. Sam Samsone, 44 Front Street, Toronto, tells in a sworn statement how potatoes have brought lasting relief after he had suffered badly from indigestion. He wants other sufferers to be helped as he was. This is why he has a statement of his experience. And in order that everyone may be convinced of its absolute truth Mr. Samsone made his statement under oath before a notary. In fact, it reads: "For a long time I suffered badly from indigestion. I tried everything but I continued to get worse. A friend of mine recommended Fruit-A-Lives. After taking them, it was not long before I was entirely well and could eat anything without pain or after effects."—Sam Samsone, 44 Front Street, Toronto, Ontario. Moderate Improvement Shown Is Expected To Continue

"The moderate improvement reported a year ago may be expected to continue," the fourth annual "Farm Outlook for Saskatchewan" prepared by Dr. William Allen and Professor E. C. Hope of the department of farm management of the University of Saskatchewan predicted. Wheat doubtful but more likely to rise than decline, some improvement over last year in prices for beef cattle, dairy cows and butter, rising prices for sheep and work horses, and a rise in wool towards the end of the year. Here are some of the chief factors indicated.

Prof. MacLeod, Co-Discoverer Of Insulin, Dies In Scotland

Prof. John James Rickard MacLeod, 58, co-discoverer of insulin who spent a number of years teaching at the University of Toronto and the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, died recently at Aberdeen, Scotland.

With Sir Frederick Banting of the University of Toronto, Prof. MacLeod was awarded the Nobel prize in medicine in 1923.

Prof. MacLeod returned to Aberdeen seven years ago to take the chair of physiology at Aberdeen University.

Lives of thousands were saved by the insulin treatment for diabetes which Sir Frederick, Professor MacLeod and Dr. Charles H. Best developed.

Prof. MacLeod was born at Chiny, near Dundee, Scotland, son of Robert MacLeod, and was educated at the Aberdeen Grammar school, and at Marischal College, Aberdeen. After a short period of post-graduate study in London and on the continent, he came to the United States. At the age of 27 he was appointed professor of physiology at the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Handles Letters Quickly

Robot Sorter Has Been Tested At Brighton, England

In future, most letter-sorting may be entrusted to a machine capable of handling letters three times as quickly as by hand. This robot sorter, which has been tried out at Brighton, is like a huge typewriter. Letters pass into it on a running belt. When they are sorted, they are dropped into a box. The operator sees Leeds, for instance, he presses the Leeds key, and these letters automatically fall into their proper receptacle. It is to be hoped, for the peace of mind of the operator, that there is a receptacle for the doubtful class which requires a handwritten expert.

Uruguay Imports Potatoes

Although They Plant And Harvest Two Crops Yearly

In Uruguay, South America, they have two potato crops, in which the first and most important in planting in September and October and harvested from December to February, while the second is sown in January and February and dug three months later, according to the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways. The domestic crop is insufficient to meet consumption. Imports consist principally of table potatoes, but there is a certain demand for seed. The bulk of the table potatoes come from Argentina. Seed potatoes are imported from the United Kingdom, Germany, France and Spain.

Solar Heat Collector Shown At Meeting Of Scientists

A device for making the sun do a part of man's work was shown to the American Association for the Advancement of Science at the beginning of its winter meeting in Pittsburgh. It is a solar heat collector which, twenty minutes of operation, keeps a temperature in excess of 400 degrees Fahrenheit. The inventor is the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, Dr. C. C. Abbot. The device can be used for ordinary cooking purposes. Dr. Abbot has been using it on Mount Wilson (California) for the generation of steam for power. It is hoped that ultimately it can be made to drive large steam engines at a practicable cost. The apparatus employs a number of small mirrors fixed at right angles to the earth's axis and mounted on a frame which will turn on an axle parallel to the earth's axis. There are a number of tubes filled with black oil and protected from loss of heat by double vacuum jackets. These transmit the collected heat to a reservoir of oil, and into this reservoir ovens are inserted for cooking purposes or a tubular boiler for generating steam.
